James Soltis
May 21, 1930 ~ September 9, 2016 (age 86)

James Soltis, 86, of Canfield passed away September 9, 2016 at Hospice of the Valley, Hospice House. He was born May 21, 1930. James Soltis, known to his close friends and family as "Joe" was born in Cleveland, the son of Steve and Katie (Marek) Soltis and was the youngest of four children. The family later moved to the rural areas of Portage and Geauga County to take up farming.

Jim attended schools in Hiram and Freedom, and then graduated from Parkman High School in 1948. He married his high school sweetheart, Mary Alice Pelmonter on April 1, 1951. Together they built their home in Parkman and raised three children: Jeffrey (Janet) Soltis of Alliance, Jerold Soltis of Pickerington, and Marijo (David) Shuntich of Canfield. They lived in Parkman until 2010 when age and poor health determined their move to Canfield to be closer to their children.

Growing up on a farm, Jim always had a great love for animals and gardening. He loved dogs especially the little Chihuahua, Belle and the Rottweiler, Molly. In his later years he was especially fond of his cat Festus who was usually close by. Always a sports fan, in his younger years he was an active participant in basketball, roller skating and bowling. Jim was an avid follower of the Cleveland pro teams and OSU. He was also involved with the Cub Scouts and coached local Little League baseball. Jim also loved music, especially southern gospel, big bands and polkas.

Jim was a veteran of the United States Army serving during the Korean Conflict. He worked 38 years for the Johnson Rubber Company, retiring in 1988.

Never one to be idle, after his retirement he worked various part-time jobs. He worked endlessly in his garden and mowing his 5 acres of lawn. He and his family were always active in church and most recently attended Greenford Christian Church. Jim always had time being a father, grandfather and great grandfather.

Thank you Mr. James Soltis for your service to both our country and our Parkman community!

James (Joe) Soltis, as well as the other 2022 Parkman Veteran Honorees, will be added to the Parkman Veterans Honoree Plaque found in our Parkman Community House.

2022 Parkman Veteran Honorees

Once again our Parkman community is honoring local Veterans during the traditional Parkman Memorial Day Parade. This years honorees have graduated from the Parkman High School, they performed their tour of duty to the US Military, and they have been active members in their communities.

They have all been added to the digital Parkman Veteran Honor Roll found on our website. Other Veterans also have their salutes on this digital Honor Roll. This Parkman Honor Roll is always evolving, so if you see a name missing and would like to give a salute, please send your info and photos to our community e-mail:

ParkmanOhio@gmail.com

Many Thanks to everyone who helps support this tribute to our local Veterans and all those who volunteer to support our community!

Forrest Rollin Bidlack WWII Veteran

<https://www.tribtoday.com/obituaries/2021/10/vernelle-bidlack-russell-1924-2021/>

Forrest was born in 1921 to his parents Forrest and Edith Bidlack. Forrest had two younger sisters, Vernelle and Lucille. In Vernelle's Obit, it was noted that her family lived through the Great Depression but never went hungry thanks to her hard-working parents. She had many wonderful childhood memories of her family on the farm.

Forrest graduated from Parkman High School in 1939 and continued his education at Ohio State University. In 1943, Forrest graduated from OSU with an engineering degree and he was inducted into the Ohio State Engineering Society - Tau Beta Pi.

Glenwood Harold Ferry WWII Veteran 1923 - 2001

Glenwood Harold Ferry was born on April 9, 1923 in Hiram , Ohio. He was the youngest of three boys. Jim, John, and Glenwood. When he was a freshman in high school, he moved to a farm on 422 in Parkman and became a lifelong resident of Parkman. He attended and graduated from Parkman School. A few of his closest friends were the Hosmer brothers, Perry and Roland , and Bud Quinn. Bud was killed in the war.

After high school, Glenwood started at Fenn College in Cleveland. It is now called Cleveland State. He attended for one year before going into the United States Army. He was sent to Raleigh , N.C where he signed up for the Specialized Training Program. After being tested, he was sent to Michigan State for schooling in engineering. When he went to college in Michigan, he had to give up his corporal stripes and he never got them back. He returned to Raleigh and then had to redo basic training.

Upon completing basic training, he signed up to become a Paratrooper. He was transferred to Fort Benning, Georgia in parachute maintenance. After a month and a few jumps later, he went overseas as part of the 13th airborne division. As they were traveling in a ship overseas, his ship was hit by a French carrier that had electrical problems. At three in the morning, the boat tipped to it's side and nearly rolled the soldiers out of their bunks. A panicked Lieutenant came running into the bunk area and yelled, " We are going overboard!" He was petrified like the others, but had the presence of mind to untie his boots just in case he had to jump in water. He filled his pockets with chocolate bars and grabbed his pack over his shoulder and headed up. They didn't go overboard, but 68 men died in the damaged bow area. Eight men on the French Carrier died.

The ship spent two weeks limping into the Azores. He missed a scheduled point jump, which is where they drop Paratroopers into war zones. This was fortunate, because the outcomes were usually not very good. They ended up in Liverpool and eventually the soldiers were shipped to France where they trained novice Paratroopers in Jump School for next 5 and 1/2 months. During this time , VE Day was declared. Sometime after this Momentous Day, his squad received orders to go to the South Pacific. If those orders had not been rescinded, they would've been the first Paratroopers to enter Japan. He escaped what could've been a bad situation with that change of orders. Instead his new orders sent him back to Fort Bragg, N.C. for the remainder of his service time.

Shortly before he was discharged, he married Priscilla Jean Langston on December 26, 1946. They had 6 kids, Tim, Tom, Scott, Susan, Judy, and Jill. They built a home on the farm in Parkman and lived there until he passed on Oct. 9, 2001. The kids all attended Parkman School and graduated from Cardinal High School. He finished his engineering degree and then worked in the family carpentry business (Lee Ferry and Sons).

for your service to both our country and Parkman community!
